

Private Lesson Teachers

Dear Middle School Band Parent,

I would like to encourage you to consider having your child take private lessons. The summer months are an excellent time to begin these lessons. We are privileged to live in a school district that has an outstanding band program! Because of this excellence, the middle school and high school bands are competitive. You can give your child an advantage by starting him or her with a private lesson teacher. Starting to study while the student is young brings the most success. Students that study privately are usually the ones who audition into the advanced bands for their grade level and receive top honors such as Honor Band participation and All-State participation. Please consider lessons for your young musicians.
